LAURENS, S. C., FEB. 8, 1922.

When the wind and rain reached high proportions Monday night the electric lines of the power company were put out of commission. Consequently, all day Tuesday The Advertiser's machinery of all kinds was idle. The power came back on Tuesday evening too late to make up the lost time that night. As a result the paper is a day late today. We very much regret what we flatter ourselves was a disappointment to our readers.

Resumption of operation by the Laurens Glass Works means no little to the business life of the city, besides being an omen of improvement in business lines in general. When foreign reports reach us that business is better, there is usually little relief to be found in them here, but when one of the leading enterprises in our own community again opens its doors for business, we have good reason to smile and feel better.

We believe that the bill of Senator Goodwin to reduce the number of rural policemen from seven to five is in the right direction. What is more, it occurs to us that the total abolition of the rural police system and the addition of several deputies to the office of the sheriff would create a considerable saving in expense without a loss in efficiency. The Advertiser is convinced that several officers, with proper support from juries, judges and people to create a wholesome fear of the law, could maintain order in the county. The Advertiser has no criticism of the personnel of the present rural police system, but we believe that an equally efficient and more economical system could be devised. At least the law enforcement authority in the county should not be divided.

ADULT SCHOOLS

"South Carolina must secede from illiteracy. There are thousands, who, in their own words are saying, 'I would love to know how to read and write, but I ain't never had no chance.' Thus writes Miss Will Lou Gray, Supervisor of Adult Schools in South Carolina in a message to teachers. We quote it here in a message to all in the community so that they may use their influence in making the proposed adult schools in the county the successful undertakings that they should be.

In the last ten years South Carolina has made wonderful progress in educational fields. In our own county, for illustration, in 57 out of the 61 school districts, there are new and better and larger school buildings. The standard of education is higher. But South Carolina is still comparatively illiterate. Whatever progress has been made along educational lines was made because the people desired it. The night classes for adults in the county is not only an institution that should be desired but is possibly the greatest factor towards better citizenship.

RAILROAD INEFFICIENCY

Recent negotiations of local people with railroad authorities, in efforts to secure convenient transportation to the evangelistic meeting in progress at Spartanburg, inclines us to agree in part with railway labor unions that the troubles of the railroads are not due entirely to wages, but that poor management is proving costly. In spite of a widespread desire of many people to attend the meetings and the opportunity for profitable operation of trains, as indicated by the large patronage on the special train run from here last week and the continued demands for another train since that time, both from this and other places, the railroads have positively refused to initiate any movement to profit by this favorable situation. On the contrary, private citizens who are all interested in railroad profits, have been forced to shoulder the responsibility and organization expense of these trains, at an actual expense to themselves, while the railroads have not only refused to assist in disseminating information necessary to secure passengers, but have appeared to think that they were conferring special favors on the people by allowing them to guarantee a profit to the railroad and ride the trains at so much per mile. Ordinarily The Advertiser lends a sympathetic ear to the woeful tales of the railroads and is disposed to let them run their affairs like they want to, but such glaring failures to reap profits and the seeming disregard of the wishes of their patrons, causes us to lose some of our sympathy and to receive with more consideration charges of railroad inefficiency.

BILLY SUNDAY SPECIAL

Second Special to be Run to Spartanburg Thursday.

Several of our public spirited citizens have guaranteed the C. & W. C. railroad and secured another special train to Spartanburg tomorrow.

The original plan for Friday had to be changed on account of the announcement that Mr. Sunday will speak to the "Women Only" next Friday night. That accounts for the change back to Thursday.

The train will leave the station in Laurens at 12 M. Thursday and returning will leave Spartanburg shortly after the night service; thus enabling all who go to take in both afternoon and night services.

This will probably be the last opportunity for our people to make the trip, hear two sermons, and return the same day. The meeting lasts only about ten days longer and during the last week the Spartanburg people will wish to get the full benefit and will decline to make seat reservation for excursions from the outside towns.

Mr. Moore, the genial and accommodating manager of the Laurens Hotel, has been kind enough to agree to sell the excursion tickets at the Hotel Thursday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock to relieve the ticket agent at the depot and accommodate the public. Chief Crews has promised to keep the north side of the court house for the cars of our friends from Clinton, Cross Hill, Waterloo, Gray Court and the country, so park your cars there for convenience and protection.

The rate will be the same as last week, namely, $2.12 round trip, and for children between 6 and 12 years of age, $1.06.

There is hardly a person who does not wish to hear "Billy" Sunday, for he is today the most renowned evangelist in the world, and we shall probably never have quite so good an opportunity to hear him again.

DR. B. F. CALHOUN DEAD

Native of This County Died at His Home in Texas, January 15.

Dr. B. F. Calhoun, one of the most prominent physicians in Texas and a native of Laurens died at his home in Beaumont, Texas, Sunday morning, Jan. 15th. Dr. Calhoun died in his 73rd year.

Up until stricken with illness which terminated in his death, Dr. Calhoun led a most active life. This great activity began at the tender age of 15 years, when he entered the Confederate army and fought with valor until the end.

He was born in Laurens, October 25, 1848. His father, Ludlow Calhoun, was a colonel in the Confederate army and was followed by his son who joined a South Carolina regiment. He was engaged in many battles, but came out of the conflict unscathed.

South Carolina was almost devastated by the conflict, and in 1868 Dr. Calhoun decided to seek his fortune in Texas. He located in Brazoria County, and in 1882 married Miss Mattie Daugh, who died in 1890. To this union was born one son, A. Ludlow Calhoun, who is now a prominent attorney in Beaumont. In 1892, he married Miss Lela Grist, who survives him.

Dr. Calhoun is also survived by his sister, Mrs. Eugenia Middleton, of Charles Hill, McCormick County. He was born and lived as a boy near Old Martins Depot, in the lower part of the county. His father, Col. Patrick Ludlow Calhoun, of Abbeville, was a son of Patrick Calhoun (a brother of John C. Calhoun). Col. P. L. Calhoun married Martha Teague, daughter of Dr. Thomas Teague, of Laurens.
